Safety Seminar Sessions:

Effective Fleet Safety Management - Through the IRS Lens

This informative session will shed light on what an effective fleet safety management system should look like and how it can be successfully implemented into your day to day operations. This session will present a case study highlighting the importance of overall fleet safety management system performance including: What approach did we take? What worked and what worked well? What key elements and key metrics were developed?

Determining Accident Preventability

Do you know the difference between an at-fault accident and a preventable accident? In this session, you will learn the key differences between accident fault and preventability as well work through some case studies to apply the concepts in this session.

Tired, sad and hurt: The workplace effects of fatigue

A growing body of research points to the adverse effects of fatigue at work. Decision-making, mood and safety performance are all reliably and negatively predicted by fatigue. The goal of this presentation is to review the workplace effects of fatigue and introduce the elements of a fatigue management program for organizations.

Overlooked Fleet Safety Concerns

It challenging at best to stay abreast of the existing legislation to ensure fleet safety and compliance standards are maintained at optimal levels. So, what happens when the existing legislation is silent while fleet safety professionals are trying to secure answers to proactive concerns raised at the workplace? This informative session will illustrate overlooked fleet safety concerns such as fleet configurations, safe weight distribution, proper modifications, etc. Bring your unanswered fleet safety questions or concerns to this session for our presenter to guide you on what steps to take.

Fleet Safety Exposures – From the Regulator’s Point of View

What to expect from a roadside inspector, what information can be communicated to fleets to ensure a successful inspection, and what trending concerns are on the inspector’s radar? This session is designed for all levels of management and frontline employees who operate and cause to operate commercial vehicle to discuss their questions and concerns and to give some guidance on what drivers and managers should know about roadside inspections. This session will highlight areas of non-compliance exposures to the trucking industry and will provide strategies to reduce this exposure.

Fire Safety Management – Compliance Solutions/Risk Mitigation for Fleets

Does your fire protection plan consist of a 2-1/2 lb. dry chemical fire extinguisher mounted in the cab of your power unit? Do you transport dangerous goods and want to understand what to do in the event of an onboard fire emergency? Do you have other related fire safety questions or concerns for both your fleet and facilities? This seminar will highlight fire safety hazards specific to the commercial trucking industry. Fire Inspection & Plan Examination specialist will discuss code compliant solutions to help your business efficiently implement risk mitigation measures.

New Brunswick Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Updates

This Branch has a responsibility to enhance public safety on provincial highways, to reduce highway damage caused by overweight vehicles and to provide a unified approach to Commercial Vehicle Enforcement in New Brunswick. Superintendent John Lunney & Sergeant Kevin MacLellan, both senior managers with this branch, will be providing some general updates and be available to answer questions from symposium participants.
